

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| 26.3. Three large-scale wars in his rule   | 26.3. Three large-scale wars in his rule   |
| 26.4. Famous Decebalus, Dacians' leader, his adversary on Balkan peninsula [134]   | 26.4. Famous Alaric, Goths' leader, his adversary [128], [134]                                       |
| 26.5. Overlapping of Goths and Dacians (cf. No. 23)  | 26.5. Overlapping of Goths and Dacians (cf. No. 23)  |
| 26.6. First war with Decebalus started almost immediately after coming to power [128]. (More precisely, in third year of his rule, but information about these three years is practically absent.) | 26.6. First war with Alaric started almost immediately after coming to power [128]                   |
| 26.7. Decebalus (name has meaningful translation): legendary army commander in traditional history   | 26.7. Alaric (name has meaningful translation): legendary army commander in traditional history      |
| 26.8. Large-scale and heavy war with Decebalus. Lasted for 2 years ( ibid. , [134])   | 26.8. Large Roman army headed by Stilicho waged war with Alaric. Lasted for 2 years ( ibid. ) |
| 26.9. Peace treaty with Decebalus after war ([128], p. 789)  | 26.9. Peace treaty with Alaric ([128], p. 793)   |
| 26.10. Strengthening Decebalus' army during armistice. Decebalus' army powerful for several years  | 26.10. Strengthening Alaric's army during armistice. He is powerful for several years                |
| 26.11. Armistice violated by Decebalus. Second war with Trajan   | 26.11. Violation of armistice by Alaric. Second war with Arcadius                                    |
| 26.12. Continued for several years   | 26.12. Lasted several years  |
| 26.13. Results inconclusive. Armistice   | 26.13. Results inconclusive. Armistice   |
| 26.14. Third war with Trajan. Lasted for several years [128], [134]  | 26.14. Third war with Arcadius. Lasted for several years ( ibid. , [134])                     |
| 26.15. War with "Parthia"  | 26.15. War with Alaric   |
| 26.16. Third war lost, Rome's defeat [128]   | 26.16. Third war lost, Rome's defeat, army commanded by Roman (Stilicho)                             |
| 26.17. Decebalus on Balkans was Trajan's principal enemy   | 26.17. Alaric from Balkans was Arcadius' principal enemy   |
-

27a. Publius Aelius Hadrian

27b. Honorius

-
- |  |                               |
|--|-------------------------------|
| 27.1. Adopted by Trajan, relative of Trajan's wife ([134], p. 322) | 27.1. Arcadius' brother [134] |
|--|-------------------------------|